Board Chair's Report

WOW! Has another year passed already? As you look through our annual report, I think you'll see why it seems as if this last year has simply flown by. Mary Gibble, as our president, and her more than able staff, as well as our Board members and our community supporters, have been extremely busy this year fulfilling the Hancock County Community Foundation's commitments to Lilly Endowment to complete the program that is lovingly referred to as SRD, or Sustaining Resource Development. Because of the tireless efforts of these groups, we have accomplished almost every single goal set in response to Lilly Endowment's grant opportunity. It is only because of the heartwarming groundswell of support that we've received from our donors and members of the public that we have succeeded in accomplishing sustainability for the Hancock County Community Foundation for the foreseeable future.

We here at HCCF were not only deeply involved in achieving our 2007 goals, but also in planning the strategies of HCCF to continue and increase the Foundation's ability to grow and serve the philanthropic needs of the community after SRD. It has been an exciting time for gifts made by donors and has brought to everyone's attention that development for the sake of community good is a lifelong activity and one whose seeds, sown now, will someday reap substantial benefits for charitable causes, organizations and institutions just as those seeds sown by the early Foundation board members, founding contributors, and staff are now yielding.

As part of our continuing efforts to communicate to the residents of Hancock County that one need not be rich to be a supporter of charitable causes through the Foundation, the Acorn Society has been created, which allows a donor to contribute as little as $1,000 per year for a 10-year period to create a fund to serve that donor's particular philanthropic purpose. Another method by which any interested supporter may help the Foundation is to join our Legacy Society by remembering a fund at the Foundation in one's will or by a healthy community. One unique aspect of this fund is that a woman's fund membership may be sponsored by the men in her life. What a wonderful and everlasting gift to give for a birthday, anniversary, or other special occasion.

Finally, I would be remiss if I didn't thank all of you for making this last year a very successful year for the Foundation and yet offer a creating an endowment through a planned gift like a charitable gift annuity or gift of life insurance.

An innovative new fund has also been created—the Women's Fund of Hancock County. This fund recently received a rousing reception by a large group of women within Hancock County. Their goal will be to make grants each year to support issues and programs that are important to the well-being of reminder to all that our work and the work of the Foundation is perpetual because the individuals and the needs we serve are never-ending.

Thank you for your continued support,

Gregg Morelock

How to Give

There are many ways to become part of the Community Foundation and make a lasting contribution to your community.

- 1) Contribute any amount to any of our existing Endowment Funds.
- 2) Establish your own fund (anonymously or in your name) to benefit the community of Hancock County or another favorite charitable cause, organization or institution.
 - a) Establish a Donor-Advised Fund to earn an immediate tax deduction and then spread your giving over time through thoughtful grantmaking.
 - b) Help a nonprofit organization you are involved with to establish an agency endowment fund that will support it forever.
 - c) Establish a scholarship fund. Scholarships are generated upon reaching a $10,000 fund balance.
- 3) Include a bequest or other planned gift in your estate plan to support a thriving, healthy community or charitable activity for generations to come.

The Community Foundation accepts a wide variety of gifts, including:

- Cash
- IRAs or life insurance
- Closely held stock
- Remainder of a Charitable Remainder Trust
- Lead gift of a Charitable Lead Trust
- Life Estates
- Publicly traded securities
- Real Estate
- Bequests

How do I create an Endowment Fund through the Hancock County Community Foundation?

Creating a fund within the Hancock County Community Foundation is an easy process. By working with you individually, as well as your financial advisor, the staff at the Community Foundation is able to customize a fund to achieve your philanthropic goals. The Hancock County Community Foundation generally follows this process when creating a new endowment fund:

- 1) Meets with you to discuss your philanthropic goals.
- 2) Assists you in determining the charitable organization, institution, or cause to benefit from the fund and confirms legal compliance of all details.
- 3) Reviews, with you, the newly created endowment fund agreement outlining the purpose of the fund and encourages you to consult with a professional advisor to confirm alliance with your overall financial plan.
- 4) Invests the charitable endowment fund with Foundation's endowment pool, increasing its earning power.
- 5) Makes annual grants to your chosen charity. When the fund balance reaches $10,000, assuming it has been invested for no less than one year, the fund may begin making grants from the generated income, thus benefitting the charity for generations to come.

Honoring 50 Years of Marriage with a Unique Gift to the Community

Tom and Carole Bloodgood are well-known for their dedication to the Greenfield community. It is not unusual to see Master Gardener, Tom, with dirt up to his elbows planting flowers along Greenfield's Main Street on behalf of America in Bloom. Everyone knows where to find Carole in June...at the Presbyterian Church cutting thousands of strawberries for the annual Strawberry Festival! Last summer, this youthful couple went to New Orleans, spending restless nights on uncomfortable cots in the enclosed heat of a tent while rebuilding the home of a hurricane victim. Both are very active at their church, serve on various nonprofit boards, and do so with a philanthropic grace that speaks louder than their actions.

In 2007, the Hancock County Community Foundation became the vehicle of choice for the Bloodgoods' donation of a unique gift that would ensure that their philanthropic spirit would continue to benefit others beyond their lifetimes...the gift of life insurance.

Tom and Carole's knowledge of the Foundation began when Tom served on the original Board of Directors in 1992. Over the years, they watched the Foundation's impact on the community grow through the generosity of others and wanted to use HCCF to make a gift that would benefit the community for generations to come. It was their 50th wedding anniversary that sparked a conversation on how a mature life insurance policy could be used to benefit others. You see, in 1957, Tom's father insisted he take out a life insurance policy before he married! The Bloodgoods chose to designate 50% of Tom's life insurance policy to the Ambassador Community Development Fund (discretionary grantmaking fund), 25% to the Purdue Opportunity Scholarship Fund and 25% to the Women's Fund of Hancock County. When asked why they used the Foundation as a vehicle for their unique gift, the Bloodgoods shared that they like the fact that donors may create funds that address areas of interest to them or may give to existing funds that have already been created to address community needs.

By allowing the Foundation the opportunity to publicize their planned gift of life insurance, Carole and Tom have been honored as Legacy Society members. We thank them for allowing us the privilege of sharing their example.

Information on the Legacy Society can be found on page 13.

Tom and Carole Bloodgood

Gifts of Life Insurance

Life insurance provides an excellent opportunity to make a future major gift to an existing endowment or to create a new fund at HCCF. There are several options to consider:

- 1) Like Tom, you can assign our organization the ownership of a paid-up life insurance policy. If you are the insured policy owner, simply transfer the physical possession of your policy to the Foundation and file an absolute assignment-of-ownership form with your insurance company. The insurance company will then send an endorsement to us showing that we are the sole owner and beneficiary of the policy. Tom can be assured that HCCF will receive the value of the life insurance upon his death and was able to deduct the cash value of the policy immediately for income tax purposes. The proceeds from this policy will not be subject to the federal estate tax at his death.
- 2) If the donated life insurance policy is not a paid-up policy, you can still deduct the value of the policy immediately for income tax purposes, but can also deduct gifts made to us to help pay the premiums, and the proceeds from the policy will not be subject to the federal estate tax at death.
- 3) Simply name HCCF as the beneficiary of a policy, although in this case you may not deduct the value of the policy you continue to own.
- 4) If you feel that a family member should have priority, you can name HCCF as the contingent beneficiary. We will receive the proceeds only if your primary beneficiary is not living at the time of your death. Again, you may not deduct the value of the policy you continue to own.
- 5) Name HCCF as beneficiary of a portion of your life insurance policy.
- 6) Acquire a new policy and then transfer ownership of the policy to HCCF. All the premiums you pay are tax-deductible charitable gifts.

A Silent Gift Speaks Louder than Words

In 2007, the telephone rang and a caring individual said, “I don’t know a lot about the Community Foundation, but I was told I should call you. Can I make a gift of stock through the Foundation to help an organization that means a lot to my wife and me?” The answer was, of course, “Yes!” The key to a successful transaction would be that the gift remain anonymous to the intended recipient and to the community. After a few moments of conversation, it became obvious that the size of the gift would be substantial and could potentially fund an endowment quite nicely. Upon sharing the good news of an endowment’s ability to generate annual income, the kind caller enthusiastically said, “Let’s meet! I want to learn more!”

From this meeting grew a new friend of the Community Foundation. He and his wife did indeed transfer a gift of Apple stock to the Foundation, where it was sold and invested with over $13.5 million dollars to ensure maximum earning power and minimum fee impact. The income from the sale of stock created the Mt. Comfort Elementary School

“Over time, I have experienced limited success and recognize that I have been very fortunate. I want to repay the system. . . I want to give back. I personally wish to do so without sharing my name. I only ask that recipients return the kindness to someone else. I ask that they ‘pass it on.’ ”

Endowment Fund and is intended to support the Angel Connection. The Angel Connection was created by volunteers to help families of Mt. Comfort Elementary School when in financial need. Up until the endowment was created, the Angel Connection volunteers supported their efforts through fundraisers. The endowment will now provide a perpetual stream of income and alleviate the need to coordinate labor intensive fundraising drives. Why Mt. Comfort? Our anonymous donor’s wife had donated time at the school to tutor children. She was very touched by the staff, the children, and the way the Angel Connection helped those less fortunate.

Anonymous gifts are made for as many different reasons as there are caring people. This quiet friend shared, “I grew up in poverty. I had one pair of shoes, two pairs of overalls, and one flannel shirt. I wore my first suit at my high school graduation. . . it came from Goodwill. I really didn’t know I was poor, I just knew I didn’t have as much stuff as others did.”

One may make an anonymous gift through the Foundation with the assurance that it will be administered with complete discretion.

Donating Securities to the Hancock County Community Foundation

1) Securities held by Broker:

Any person wishing to donate securities held by a broker MUST notify the Community Foundation financial office of the name of the security being donated, the number of shares, the broker’s name, address and phone number and the charitable fund at the Foundation to be credited with the gift. The Hancock County Community Foundation will provide you, or speak directly with your broker, with all the necessary information to make the transfer. Once this is done, the broker should be contacted by the donor and instructed to transfer the securities to the Foundation.

2) Securities (Certificates) physically held by Donor if sending by Mail:

(Please notify the Community Foundation financial office before you mail any stock-related information!)

- The donor should mail the certificate in a separate envelope to the Community Foundation with a letter stating specifically what is being donated and the charitable fund at the Foundation to be credited with the gift. Do not sign the stock certificate or fill out the transfer section on the back of the certificate.
- The donor should mail in a separate envelope a Stock Power Form, available at www.hccf.cc, with signature guaranteed to the Community Foundation, along with a copy of the above letter. The donor should enter only the number of shares, name of company, and certificate number on the Stock Power Form.
- A photocopy of your driver’s license, or other picture ID should be sent to the Community Foundation.

3) Securities (Certificates) physically held by Donor – Alternatives to Mailing:

The certificate, letter and Stock Power Form may be transmitted to the Community Foundation in the following ways:

- You can personally deliver them to HCCF during normal business hours.
- A Community Foundation staff member can pick up your Stock Certificates and Stock Power Form if it is more convenient.

Creating the Legacy

Our Legacy Society recognizes those who have included the Community Foundation in their will or estate plan and are willing to make this commitment publicly as an inspiration to others. We profusely thank them for their generosity and commitment to the future of the organizations and charitable causes, both near and far, that they hold dear.

Building the Future – The Choice to Give through the Community Foundation

There are very good reasons people choose to give through the Hancock County Community Foundation:

- We are a local organization with deep roots in the community.
- We understand the community's issues and needs, and work with area organizations to coordinate resources in order to create positive change.
- We offer the flexibility for you to give locally, nationally, or abroad.
- We provide personalized and completely confidential service tailored to each individual's charitable and financial interests.
- We accept a wide variety of assets and can facilitate many ways of giving.
- We can partner with your professional advisors to create highly effective approaches to charitable giving.
- We offer maximum tax advantages under federal law for most gifts, which may include:

- Income tax savings
- Avoidance of additional tax owed by survivors
- Estate and gift tax savings
- Increased lifetime income
- We multiply the impact of gift dollars by pooling them with other gifts: we are responsible stewards.
- We build endowment funds that benefit the community forever and help you create your personal legacy.

For Professional Advisors

A Word of Thanks

The Hancock County Community Foundation recognizes the importance of professional advisors in the charitable gift process. Your work is a valuable part of our long-term success. Thank you!

Starting the Philanthropic Conversation with Clients

To determine your client's motivation for and knowledge of philanthropic giving, you might ask the following questions:

- What has been the most satisfying charitable gift you have ever made? Why?

- Have you volunteered anywhere? Which volunteer experience has proven the most rewarding?
- Of your core values, which would you like to express through giving?
- When you think of challenges facing our community, what are your greatest concerns? Are any of these the focus of your current or future giving?
- What would you like to accomplish with your giving?

The Hancock County Community Foundation Option for Giving

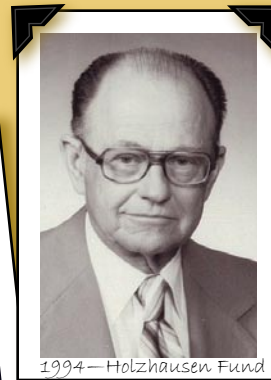

The Hancock County Community Foundation is a flexible tool that allows donors to perpetuate their planned gifts, as opposed to leaving a one-time gift, through the establishment of an endowment or by benefiting an existing endowment. Endowed gifts generate income that will provide support to your clients' favorite charitable organizations, institutions, or causes for generations to come!

HCCF Milestones 1992-2007

In celebration of the Foundation's 15-year anniversary, we are recognizing "Milestones" in the history of our organization. The evolution of the Community Foundation is documented in the following annual excerpts and made possible only by the wisdom of Lilly Endowment's GIFT plan; the incredibly hard work of dedicated volunteers who were and are determined to create an enhanced future for our community; and the work ethic of dedicated staff. Above all, it has been the generosity of caring individuals, families, and organizations who wish to perpetuate their philanthropy through endowment that have made the greatest impact on the organization and in our community. Health and human services, arts and culture, education, youth programs, and civic efforts have been strengthened by discretionary funding through community grants, as well as the many designated funds that together, over 15 years, have granted over $5 million to enhance and enrich life in Hancock County and beyond.

Impactful Community Grantmaking Passes the Test of Time

The true measure of a Community Foundation's lasting impact is its ability to meet community need as those needs change over time. The Hancock County Community Foundation began making grants from its community development funds in 1996. Income generated from funds of this nature is discretionary and allows the Foundation to make grants through a competitive grant application process. To qualify for funding, applicants must have an administrative presence in our community and provide services to the residents of Hancock County. Since 1996, the Foundation has awarded over 180 discretionary grants totaling over $665,000, but the numbers only tell one side of the story. The more important story is how these grants made a difference to the recipients. There are many stories to share; space allows us to share only a small handful... Enjoy!

Grant Recipient: Regreening Greenfield – The City Beautification Project

The Need: The city of Greenfield recognized the need for an improvement in aesthetics and environment.

The Project Description: Funding allowed placement of four "Welcome to Greenfield" signs; landscaping; a spring flower project; ongoing maintenance, care, and pruning of trees planted around the city by Regreening since the organization's inception; and the beginning of an annual distribution of free tree seedling distribution to local residents in celebration of Arbor Day.

The Impact Then and Now: Funding allowed Regreening Greenfield's volunteers to contribute to the city's aesthetics and environment, promoting pride in its citizens and a positive impression to visitors. The entry sign project brought together partners from business, government, and the not-for-profit sectors. Three of the four initiatives supported by the grant remain in existence today as Regreening enlists community partners for the ongoing maintenance of the entry signs, plants and maintains street trees, and distributes trees to local citizens.

Grant Recipient: Hancock County Senior Services

The Need: Senior Services had only one wheelchair accessible vehicle. The existing van had been added in 1993, but had funding for only four days per week, Monday through Thursday.

The Project Description: Funding would allow the wheelchair van's availability to include Fridays.

The Impact Then and Now: The initial impact of the grant allowed 15 clients to be provided 400 additional trips. Clients were able to access needed services such as medical appointments, pharmacies, grocery stores, etc. The long-term impact has been a contribution toward the continual expansion of vitally needed transportation to the community. The aforementioned vehicle was replaced in 2003 with a more efficient low floor wheelchair accessible mini-van for which HCCF provided 50% of the funding. The agency now has four wheelchair accessible vans and four sedans.

Grant Recipient: Hancock Hope House – Sponsor a Bed

The Need: Hope House was in need of support to provide a safe place to sleep, food for sustenance, and the emotional support that Hancock county residents in crisis needed to rebuild their lives.

The Project Description: Funding sponsored beds for 18 people to spend one week in the shelter.

The Impact Then and Now: The initial impact of the grant provided shelter and care for 18 people for one week. This HCCF grant, as well as numerous others awarded over the years, positioned Hope House to successfully serve the community. Hope House now has five family rooms, most of which sleep four, and an additional 12 beds in the men's

1996—Greenfield Entry Sign

1997—Senior Services Van

room. In 2007, they provided over 4,300 nights of service. Hope House evaluates its effectiveness by how many people each year are able to move themselves beyond their homelessness. There are numerous stories of individuals and families who have gone through their program and are now able to secure quality jobs and afford rental properties.

Grant Recipient: The Arc of Hancock County – Series of four Dream Maker Community Arts Workshops

The Need: Following an earlier grant received in 1999, to fund the incredibly impactful Dream Makers theatre program, the Arc identified that more inclusive arts opportunities could better serve residents of Hancock County. At that time, no inclusive arts workshops existed. Social inclusion involves being able to rejoin or participate in leisure, friendship and work communities.

The Project Description: The workshops, which were retitled FUNshops, included music, dance, drama and visual art. Each FUNshop was a full day’s program taught by professional artists who had also had extensive experience working with and adapting to the needs of people with disabilities.

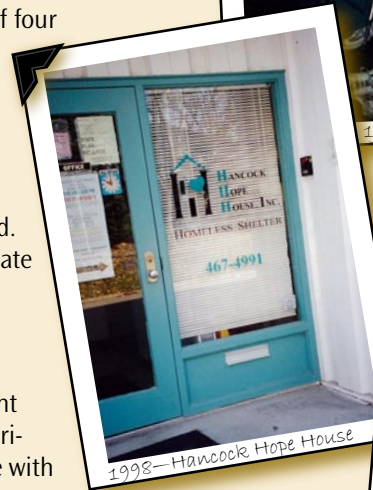

The Impact Then and Now: The initial impact was a more than 25% increase in participation from people with disabilities, and the addition of people without disabilities, which fulfilled the Arc’s goal of inclusive programming. The grant included not only the artists’ fees, but also, the cost of 15 musical instruments, built especially for the Arc. These instruments have been utilized in numerous activities since 1999, including a 2003 grant from the Hancock County Community Foundation, when the four arts FUNshops were offered exclusively for middle school students. The inclusiveness of the workshops provides equal opportunities for sharing power and resources amongst the participants. As a result, individuals have not only met their own needs but have reached out to meet the needs of others. This connectedness has facilitated fellowship and understanding by joining people of all abilities together.

Grant Recipient: First Steps – Printing of 5,500 Hancock County Community Services Guides

1999—Arc FUNshop

1998—Hancock Hope House

2000—Services Guide

The Need: The Hancock County Community Services Guide, a central location of service information for Hancock County families, was outdated. Members of the Leadership Hancock County class updated the guide. Once created, there was no funding to print the guide.

The Project Description: Funding allowed for printing of a 96-page guide that would include pertinent information about all the community resources that were currently available to families. The guide included a “What Do I Do?” section that answered frequently asked questions about where to go and how to access services when a family was in need (e.g. food stamps, food pantries, help for pregnant women, Head Start, Medicaid, contacting township trustees, etc.). Alphabetical listings of all the community service agencies, a brief description of the services they provide, contact information and office hours were also included.

The Impact Then and Now: The Hancock County Community Services Guide was a wonderful tool for both professionals and families. The most recent information about community agencies was at the fingertips of each user. Families could be more proactive on their own behalf because they could see what services were available and how to find the agencies. The initial production and subsequent use of the guide proved so helpful that United Way of Central Indiana later assumed the responsibility for its continued production, and the Community Services Guide continues to provide an invaluable resource today.

Grant Recipient: Healthy Families

The Need: Nonprofit organizations rarely have the funding to provide professional development opportunities for their staff and volunteers, which strengthens the capacity for them to provide much needed services to the community.

The Project Description: This grant sent five Hancock County Healthy Families staff to the Prevent Child Abuse/Healthy Families National Conference in Dallas Texas. The conference offered a variety of workshops that focused on collaborative strategies, minimizing staff burnout, and fostering father-child relationships. As a result of networking, learning new techniques for increasing referrals, it was expected that there would then be an increase in the number of Hancock County families receiving assessments and home visits.

The Impact Then and Now: There are currently three staff members that remain on staff at Healthy Families Hancock County that attended this National Conference. By implementing new strategies learned, Healthy Families workers were provided the tools needed to enhance parental relationships, regardless of marital status, and improve the well-being of children and families in Hancock County. Each service improvement that results from enhanced professional development has the potential to better the life of a parent and child forever. In 2007, Healthy Families served 131 families with home visits and did 233 assessments for families.

Grant Recipient: Boys and Girls Club of Hancock County

The Need: The Club transported 60 members from the Greenfield-Central School Corporation to the Boys and Girls Clubs for supervised after-school activities in two 1989 vans. It was during this time that there was a change in Mt. Vernon School Corporation's ability to provide transportation to the Fortville Unit. An additional van was needed to serve the children of that area.

The Project Description: These funds allowed for the purchase of three newer, used vans for the organization that would replace the two ill-fated 1989 vans at the Greenfield Unit and provide transportation to youth in the Fortville area.

The Impact Then and Now: The newer vans saved funds on maintenance of the vehicles while allowing the staff to take members on field trips farther away than Indianapolis. The Fortville Unit members were able to continue to participate in after-school club activities. Today, the three vans are utilized at the Jim Andrews Unit for the KIDSTOP! after-school programs and for field trips. During the second semester 2007-2008, the three vans have allowed staff to pick up more than 90 youth to participate in after-school programs. They have been utilized for field trips, basketball trips to Evansville, other nonprofit organization use, and much more.

2002—Boys and Girls Club Van

2003—FUSE Adaptive Swim Class

2003

Grant Recipient: FUSE – Adaptive Swim Classes for Children with Disabilities

The Need: Parents of children with disabilities, who could afford to do so, were driving to Indianapolis so that their children could participate in adaptive swim classes. Those who could not afford to drive to Indy or pay for classes went without this important opportunity for exercise and empowerment.

The Project Description: This grant enabled FUSE to start a local adaptive swim program, where children would be assisted one-on-one by a volunteer in the water. Volunteers would help swimmers attempt water activities identified by the instructor and adapted to each individual child's needs while ensuring the safety of the swimmer at all times at a price that most families could reasonably afford. For those who were financially unable to pay the registration fee, the organization established a fund to provide scholarships. In addition, swim equipment, ribbons, and an award celebration would be needed.

The Impact Then and Now: The first year 13 children participated in the Adaptive Swim Program. Now, five years later, 57 children have been served. FUSE has refined the process, enhanced the instruction, developed new partnerships in the community, and added equipment to improve the experience of both swimmers and volunteers. They get calls year round from new families who hear about adaptive swim and want to know when to register, so it has raised awareness of FUSE in the community as well. Most importantly, every child goes home knowing that he or she is a champion swimmer!

Grant Recipient: Alternatives of Madison County, Inc.

The Need: Prior to October 2005, victims of domestic violence in a five county area—including Hancock County—hoped there would be room available in Alternative’s emergency shelter when trouble arose. The existing facility was a single-family residency built in the 1890’s, and the number of women and children needing shelter far exceeded the capacity of the facility. The age of the building was also creating major safety concerns.

The Project Description: In November 2003, Alternatives celebrated their 25th anniversary and announced a capital campaign to construct a new shelter facility. The new facility would be 19,000 square feet and have a 30-bed emergency shelter component; five units of transitional housing; a preschool; an on-site employment training center; and a sexual assault treatment center. Located within the facility would be a domestic violence law enforcement unit.

The Impact Then and Now: Alternatives is able to better meet the requests for shelter and provide enhanced services. Alternatives had 18 beds in their old location; they now have 48. Last year they served 400 individuals, including 20 from Hancock County. In their 30-year history, they’ve provided services to 10,210 women and children.

Grant Recipient: KidsPlay – Royalties

The Need: As a non-profit children’s theatre group that ‘depends on the kindness of strangers’ (a famous line from “A Streetcar

2004—Alternatives' New Facility

Named Desire”), royalty payments are always one of the largest expenses and very challenging to cover.

The Project Description: This grant provided funding for royalty payments for the production of “The Little Town of Christmas.”

The Impact Then and Now: KidsPlay takes pride in the fact that there is no fee for participating in their program. Help with major expenses (such as royalties) enables the organization to continue providing a quality program at no cost to the families who participate. Over 200 children have participated in KidsPlay since the organization’s inception.

2005—KidsPlay

Grant Recipient: Meals on Wheels

The Need: There were no meal delivery programs in the northeast corner of Hancock County, and the nutritional needs of those citizens were not being met.

The Project Description: Funding allowed the organization to hire a part-time employee to prepare meals and to deliver a new route to the rural Wilkinson area.

The Impact Then and Now: 786 meals were delivered Monday, Wednesday, and Friday between November 2006 and October 2007 to the Wilkinson area, providing clients in need with nutritious meals, prepared to the clients’ preferences and their doctors’ specifications. Meals on Wheels of Hancock County is still delivering meals to the Wilkinson area on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. The current plan is to continue this route, recruiting volunteers to deliver 100% of the route and eventually expand to five days per week. In addition, they plan to use this model to begin a route in another underserved area in the northwest corner of the county.

Preserving the Past Building the Future Creating Your Legacy

Each November, the United States sets aside a week to honor the impact of philanthropy on our country. There could be no more fitting way to celebrate the anniversary of the Foundation than by recognizing the many people who have played a role in allowing HCCF the privilege of sharing the philanthropic visions of donors to direct resources to enrich and enhance Hancock County.

The 15-Year Anniversary Celebration was held November 16th at Adaggios and, thanks to the generosity of sponsors, was celebrated in grand style! Guests contributed over $7,500 to the Ambassador Community Development Fund for the strengthening of HCCF's discretionary grantmaking efforts.

How to Apply for a Grant

The Community Foundation has established an annual grantmaking program that is available on a competitive basis to incorporated, 501(c)(3) organizations serving Hancock County. Each grantmaking program has its own criteria used to evaluate applications.

We welcome and encourage contact from organizations that are considering applying for a grant and are happy to clarify and respond to questions concerning policies, guidelines, or application procedures.

Annual grant programs begin with a community announcement in which nonprofits are asked to submit a "Letter of Intent." Upon review, the invitation to apply for a grant will be made to qualifying organizations. Proposals will be reviewed and compared with other proposals received. Those proposals which best meet our criteria are selected for funding.

We require that applicant organizations use the Community Foundation's application forms. Grant program timelines and forms are posted on our website at www.hccf.cc or by calling Rachel Strong, Program Officer at (317) 462-8870 ext. 226.

The Lilly Endowment Community Scholarship

Each year since 1998, the Hancock County Community Foundation has had the honor of conducting the intense selection process of the Lilly Endowment Community Scholars. These scholarships have been made available to special students across the state of Indiana due to the generosity of Lilly Endowment. The program provides scholarships for full tuition, required fees, and a special allocation of up to $800 per year for required books and equipment. This scholarship is for four years of undergraduate study on a full-time basis leading to a baccalaureate degree at any Indiana public or private college or university accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Scholarship Funds

In 2007, the Hancock County Community Foundation handed out 80+ scholarships with a combined value of over $146,500. Students who received the scholarships plan to study everything from music to auto mechanics, business to engineering. Some students would not have pursued education beyond high school without these important scholarships. The Foundation works closely with scholarship fund donors to create criteria which reflect their preferences in selecting scholarship recipients. Our thanks go to community members who have created these funds, which can be found on page 6-9. A complete list with photos of the 2007 scholarship recipients can be found on our website at www.hccf.cc in the 2007 third quarter newsletter.

The Women's Fund of Hancock County

The Women's Fund is a vehicle driven by women and girls of all means who are committed to strengthening Hancock County communities. Our members believe that high-priority issues should be addressed thoughtfully to inspire social change and improve our quality of life for generations to come. Recipients of grants awarded from the fund shall be selected by the membership and may address community needs in the areas of the arts, education, environment, civic affairs, human services, and youth.

Knowing that combined efforts have greater impact, dedicated members pool their resources into the Women's Fund of Hancock County held at the Hancock County Community Foundation. A portion of each gift is permanently endowed, ensuring resources and creating a legacy for the future; and a portion is used annually for grants to address community needs and issues.

Who can become a member?

Any woman or girl over the age of 16 who supports the mission of the Women's Fund and makes an annual financial commitment at any level qualifies as a member. Girls between the ages of 10 and 16 may be sponsored by a female adult member. Membership is a one year term.

What is the group's membership commitment?

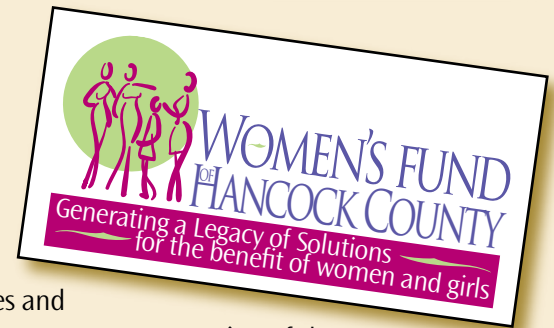

Women and girls from across the county make an annual financial commitment to the fund in any amount meaningful to them.

How will the grants be chosen?

Each year, members will be presented with a range of local issues and programs addressing those issues. The Hancock County Community Foundation will solicit grant applications and the Women's Fund Grants Committee will present qualified applicants to the entire membership. A special annual event will be held for presentation of the applicants and the voting process.

Membership is easy! A membership enrollment form is available on our website at www.hccf.cc or can be mailed upon request.

The PathLight Initiative

Four Hancock County organizations were named the Hancock County Community Foundation's PathLight Partners. As a result, they will receive $1 for every $2 raised to grow their Agency Endowment Funds. Agency Endowment Funds are powerful tools that can ensure the future of nonprofit organizations. This type of permanent fund generates annual income that can help build a perpetual source of unrestricted funding for organizations, while increasing the number of people supporting their mission and the depth of supporters' commitment to their cause.

PathLight Partners:

- FUSE (Families United for Support and Encouragement)
- Hancock County Public Library
- Mt. Vernon Education Foundation
- Nameless Creek Youth Camp

Parties interested in contributing to any of these agencies' endowment funds can either contact the agency directly or contact the Hancock County Community Foundation. Additional information is available on the Foundation's website, www.hccf.cc, under the 'Grants' tab.

The Hancock County Community Foundation has been working to enhance the quality of life in our community since 1992. We manage a collection of permanent funds that are created by individuals, families and organizations to forever benefit charitable purposes.

- HCCF provides permanent vehicles, called endowment funds, which generate annual income that will make a lasting difference to one’s favorite charitable causes and organizations.
 - HCCF is a donor-driven organization.
- Endowment funds are tailor-made to meet the philanthropic desires of caring citizens.
 - Funds may be established in large or small amounts.
- Endowment funds create a permanent legacy in the community and can bear any name desired.
- HCCF can accept a multitude of gifts, some of which are very complicated, at no expense to you. There is no fee to create a fund and a very low cost to administer the fund.
 - HCCF handles all administrative complexities.

The Hancock County Community Foundation is uniquely equipped to help you create your legacy!
